Sony to Use IBM Blockchain-based Platform in Education

Published on August 9, 2017

Leo Walker
Contact manager at coinidol.com. FinTech and Blockchain soluti…

👍 15   💬 0   ↗ 6

Sony Corporation and Sony Global Education, a subsidiary of Sony, have today announced that it has developed a new blockchain-based student education records platform.

According to the official announcement, the new platform was developed using IBM Blockchain and allows the tracking of students' learning progress. The platform also allows having transparent and accountable records of scholastic achievements and sharing them between students and several schools.

The full article: https://coinidol.com/sony-to-use-blockchain-in-education/

👍   💬   ↗

Report this

Leo Walker
Contact manager at coinidol.com. FinTech and Blockchain solutions. Interest in the legal and societal…
232 articles

0 comments

Don't miss more articles by Leo Walker

The First Ever ICO Backed By Investments In A Private Equity Fund

Leo Walker on LinkedIn

Rivetz Raises $5.5 Million in RvT Token Pre-Sale; Public Token Crowdsale Begins Today, Capped at 200,000 ETH

Leo Walker on LinkedIn

Online Strategy That Will Allow to Monetize Time Spent on the Game

Leo Walker on LinkedIn

Looking for more of the latest headlines on LinkedIn?

Discover more stories